

The Shallowford Falls Fox

Margene was a kindergarten teacher's aide for twenty years at Shallowford Falls, an elementary school in Cobb County that chose the Fox as its mascot. From the time she showed up for work until the time she went home, Margene was a constant ray of sunshine who lifted the spirits of everyone in the building. On the Tuesday after she died, the school she loved held a magnificent memorial in tribute to one of its most beloved employees, the beautiful wife, mother and teacher's aide I referred to as the Shallowford Falls Fox. The highlight of the memorial was a slide presentation set to Stevie Wonder's hit song Isn't She Lovely. Margene's dear "Buds" friend, Brenda Ku, went without sleep the night before to have the slide show ready in time for the memorial. See picture of Brenda on p. 63.
