

Our Family Trip Out West

In 1991, Margene and I took Justin and Jeff on a 10-day vacation to Colorado, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico. We flew to Denver and rented a car. After crossing the Rockies, we visited Bryce Canyon and Zion Canyon in southeastern Utah, then spent three days in Las Vegas, where we stayed at the Golden Nugget (insert). We toured Hoover Dam, and then spent a day at the grandest canyon of them all before crossing through the northwestern tip of New Mexico on our way back to Denver for the return flight to Atlanta.
