

A lot of climate change capitalists have gotten fat from gorging on government-backed green energy investments, none more so than the green glutton described below.

EARTH'S FOREMOST CLIMATE PROFITEER

By John Eidson | Feb. 22, 2015

Since leaving the vice presidency in 2000, Al Gore has earned a staggering $200 million from his self-assigned role as the world's leading global warming alarmist. Despite that luxurious truth, Gore testified before Congress that "Every penny I have made I have put right into a non-profit deal to spread awareness of why we have to take on this challenge". He hasn't personally profited? Then where did he get $200 million? You can arrive at an informed opinion about Al Gore's veracity by watching his tortured testimony HERE.

Gore has become one of the wealthiest men in the world from his privileged status as an inside investor in taxpayer-supported green energy projects. Should the massive energy taxes he proposes be enacted, he is in line to become a BILLIONAIRE. If Gore truly believes Earth faces imminent climate collapse, as he claims, he would devote every penny he can lay his hands on to non-profit climate protection, as he said he's done. Instead, he uses his enviable wealth to finance an extravagant lifestyle.
