

In sickness and in health ...

I had a lot of illness when Justin and Jeff were growing up, a lot. More than once, cruises and other vacations we all were looking forward to were canceled at the last minute because of me. Although I know they were disappointed, not one of my family ever showed it, not a single time. They supported me through thick and thin, in sickness and in health. What kind of family is that? Priceless.

